

Photo #	Album	Notes	Image
P 55622	Album #89		The Railway Station at Laura
P 55611	Album #89	The vessel in the foreground is the “Olive Branch” which was a London Missionary Society vessel from New Guinea. The ship in the background was a coal hulk.	Two sailing ships moored at Cooktown.
P 55612	Album #89	This ship was launched at Napier, Shanks & Bell shipyard in 1890 at Glasgow for the Adelaide Steamship co. it was destroyed in WW2 bombing by the Japanese in Manila.	SS Innamincka in Cooktown.
P 55590	Album #89	This was clad with galvanised iron to guard against termites.	The hotel at Laura.
P 55591	Album #89		The General store at Laura. c 1857
P 55593	Album #89	To the right is the Endeavour River.	View from Grassy Hill looking down on Cooktown. Photo by J.D.Goss
P 55594	Album #89		View in Cooktown looking to the north shore and the grass covered slopes of Mt Saunders.
P 55603	Album #89	This is beyond Helensville and on the road to the Bloomfield River and Ayton. Photo by J.D.Goss c 1957	A small cabin at Rossville.
P 55609	Album #89		Melaleucas beside the road to Finch Bay, Cooktown. JD Goss c1980-90's
P 55610	Album #89	View looking south. The river is the right of the trees. c1980-2000	Charlotte St Cooktown.
P 55629	Album #89		Cooktown Hospital
P 55605	Album #89	It consists of massive granite boulders, home to unique wildlife and rich in Aboriginal culture.	Black Mountain is the name given to a impressive mountain range located 25 km south of Cooktown. JD Goss c1957 See also P55639
P 55626	Album #89		Cooktown on race day. Some of the Chinese set up gambling tables at the track.
P 55604	Album #89		Portion of a decorative panel from the old joss house, (in Cooktown?). J.D.Goss c 1957
P 55588	Album #89	This trip was sufficient to decapitate the anthills that had appeared between the tracks during the previous seven days. The rail motor was powered by a Daimler engine.	The weekly rail motor trip between Cooktown and Laura. Photo by J.D.Goss
P 55589	Album #89	Topping up the radiator at Deighton	The weekly rail motor trip between Cooktown and Laura. c1957.

Photo #	Album	Notes	Image
P 55592	Album #89	Photo by J.D.Goss	Charlotte St Cooktown. View from the eastern end.
P 55596	Album #89		View in Cooktown showing sunset over the Endeavour River.
P 55597	Album #89		The road to Hopevale from Cooktown.
P 55598	Album #89		View in Cooktown showing the area believed to be the site where James Cook careened the Endeavour in 1770.
P 55600	Album #89		View in Cooktown showing a trochus lugger moored near the wharf.
P 55606	Album #89		View looking seawards from the base of Grassy Hill, Cooktown.
P 55607	Album #89		Finch Bay at low tide. It is located about 2km by road from Cooktown. JD Goss c1957
P 55608	Album #89		Mangroves at Archer Point which is approximately 14 km south east of Cooktown JD Goss c1957
P 55614	Album #89	The Bank was the first to set up a branch in Cooktown in order to profit from the Palmer River gold rush of 1873.The building was designed by Architect FDG Stanley	The Queensland National Bank, Cooktown.
P 55615	Album #89	The Bank Of North Queensland was established in Townsville in 1888. As more land was opening up around the small gold rush town of Cooktown, the bank opened a branch there in 1888. However, with little else to sustain Cooktown other than the fortunes from the gold fields, the BNQ closed this branch in 1908.	The Bank Of North Queensland, Cooktown
P 55616	Album #89		A work party (diving team) at a bridge known as the 3-mile due of its distance from town (Cooktown?). This is at the Annan River and on the main road south. Photo taken in 1889.
P 55617	Album #89		A bullock team on the Palmer Road
P 55618	Album #89		Coal exploration using a diamond drill in the Cooktown region. c1890's
P 55619	Album #89		A tin field engine in the Cooktown region. c1890's
P 55620	Album #89	On the ground floor is the Cooktown Pharmacy	Building in Cooktown decorated in celebration of Queen Victoria's 60th year on the throne, c1890's.
P 55621	Album #89	The attic windows were added later.	The Cooktown Convent building as it was originally built in 1889.
P 55624	Album #89		E. Dooley, Sail and Tent Maker at Cooktown
P 55627	Album #89		State School, Cooktown c1890

Photo #	Album	Notes	Image
P 55635	Album #89	The grave of the founder of the New Guinea Mission, Rev. Albert McLaren is in the Cooktown cemetery as also is that master mariner Hume who was the son of the explorer who with Hovell discovered the Murray River.	A small trading vessel from New Guinea at Cooktown, it being the closest Australian port.
P 55636	Album #89		Cooktown, showing cyclone damage. 1899?
P 55637	Album #89	It was up and down the length of this street that sailors from a visiting French man-of-war ran horse races to the intense delight of the locals, while their commander was being entertained formerly by the town's mayor.	Charlotte Street, Cooktown with Grassy Hill in the background.
P 55638	Album #89	A Sunday School picnic group boarding the train to return home after a picnic in the Endeavour River area, North Queensland c1899.	Alderbury picnic group.
P 55572	Album #89	Sketch by J.D.Goss	Charlotte St, Cooktown, 1957
P 55595	Album #89		View looking south from Indian Head, North Queensland. Photo by J.D.Goss c 1957
P 55573	Album #89	Photo by J.D.Goss.	The inland road from Mareeba to Cooktown, 1957